Partner with SAGE to develop your Women & Leadership teaching case

Series Editor:
Heather Scott, Ph.D., Agnes Scott College

SAGE Publishing continues to grow its global case collection, SAGE Business Cases, across all business and management disciplines while also focusing on key areas we care deeply about. This Women & Leadership series within SAGE Business Cases will highlight the rich and interdisciplinary topic of women and leadership. SAGE Business Cases is pleased to offer case authors:

• Double-blind peer review of your case and teaching note (case = 1,000-5,000 words)
• A thorough editorial process to develop your ideas and prepare cases for successful publication
• Copyright in your name and final PDF for ease of use in your classroom
• Payment when your case is published
• An international audience for your work, supported by the global sales force at SAGE

Have you ever gone searching for a suitable business case about women and leadership but could not find one? Do you have an idea or a rough case draft? Have you written a business case you currently use in your classroom? Bring it to SAGE and we’ll work with you to develop your idea.

Suggested topics include:

• Women’s empowerment
• Equality in the workplace
• Women and career advancement
• Authentic leadership
• Professional development
• The impact of Covid-19
• Identity and women’s leadership
• Inclusive leadership
• Mentorship and sponsorship
• Global perspectives on women’s leadership
• Women’s leadership and economic impact
• Women and sports
• Women and STEM
• Leading while mothering

The topics above are merely an illustration. We encourage a broad spectrum of cases on all topics related to women and leadership from various industries, markets, or sectors. We also encourage multimedia cases that include or link to videos or websites.

Submission deadline: August 31, 2022 (for January 2023 publication)

Praise for SAGE Business Cases

“Highly recommended for and public libraries.” – ARBAonline
“SAGE Business Cases are timely, relevant, realistic, and often offer meaningful, supplemental digital resources for faculty and students.” – Noah Barsky, PhD, CPA, CMA Associate Professor Villanova School of Business, Villanova University
